NARROW ESCAPE OF SIX IN FIRE

Mrs. Warren E. Hutchison And Five Children Have Thrilling Rescue

FIRE INCENDIARY

Mrs. Hutchinson Saw Man Fleeing From Home When Fire Started.—House Completely Destroyed.

Mrs. Warren E. Hutchison and her five little children had a narrow escape from being burned to death in a fire which at 8:30 o'clock last night destroyed their residence on King street road near Ivy Hill cemetery.

The mother and children had retired for the night when Mrs. Hutchison was attracted by the odor of smoke. Upon looking out of her window she discovered her house was on fire and she asserts she saw a man fleeing from her premises.

The blaze attracted a number of neighbors who at once ran to the scene.

Ladders were procured and a number of citizens led by H. P. Gray, a neighbor brought the mother and her five children to safety. They escaped in their night clothes.

Neighbors also succeeded in saving a few of the household effects in the front room. Everything else was destroyed.

A fire alarm was turned in and the city fire department responded.

The Alexandria firemen helped save some of the household effects. in the front room and also formed a bucket brigade and saved the nearby houses from being burned.

The fire, which illuminated the western heavens, attracted a large throng of spectators, many going to it in motor vehicles from this city and other places.

U. S. AND BRITAIN'S VOTE

President Explains League Issue; America Always Deciding Factor

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 19.—Fatigued but satisfied with the results of two hectic days here and in San Francisco, President Wilson last night was on his way to Southern California.

The President made two set speeches today—one to the leading business men of San Francisco and another to a mixed audience at the Oakland auditorium last night. His audiences were friendly in both places.

Earlier in the day the President met and answered five questions addressed to him by the regional executive committee of the League to Enforce Peace. Their chief queries hinged on Great Britain's six votes and Irish freedom.

The President also took occasion to answer fully the Shantung argument.

Britain cannot outvote the United States in the league, the President declared, nor under the covenant can foreign governments order American troops abroad. Article X does not bind America to aid Great Britain in suppressing a revolt in Ireland, he told his interrogators, and under Article XI there would be created a new forum for the settlement of questions of self-determination such as Ireland."

Six votes were assigned to self-governing portions of the British Empire, the President said, because each in effect, in all but foriegn policies, becomes an autonomous, self governing state and practically independent of the British government; in many cases dissimilar from it.

It is not true that Britain can outvote the United States in the league of nations, the President asserted, because no action can be taken without the concurrence of a unanimous vote of the representatives of the states which are members of the council, so that in all matters of action the affirmative vote of the United States is necessary and equivalent to the united vote of the British Empire.

AFTER EMMA GOLDMAN

Warrants Looking to Her and Berkman's Deportation Are Issued

Washington, Sept. 22.—Federal warrants for the arest of Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, charging them with anarchy and looking to their deportation, have been issued by the immigration authorities. Miss Goldman is finishing a term in the Federal penitentiary at Jeferson City, Mo., and Berkman is confined in the penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. Both were convicted of obstructing the draft.

When the terms of the two noted agitators expire late this month, they will be rearrested on the warrants, and after the examination of the evidence, it is expected that further warrants will be issued for their deportation from the United States.

The immigration authorities are proceeding on the grounds that both Emma Goldman and Berkman are aliens, there being some question as to their citizenship.

Both the prisoners were convicted of obstructing the draft after their cases had been carried through the Supreme Court of the United States which affirmed their sentences. The names of both have been connected for many years with the radical and anarchistic propaganda in the United States.

The annual meeting of the stockholders and directors of the Harris & Shafer Co., will be held at the office of Mr. Gardner L. Boothe, Alexandria National Bank Building, Alexandria, Virginia, on Thursday, September 25, 1919, at 2:30 p. m.

DEAD IN STORM TOTAL 200

Property Damage in Texas is $15,000,000 Say Late Reports

Corpus Christi, Texas, Sept. 19.—The full toll of the Texas gulf storm of Sunday was beginning to become apparent yesterday, but estimates as to the total loss of life were still conflicting.

Best estimates indicated the total death list will be between 250 and 300.

Reported damage in the stricken counties will reach $15,000,000 Hundreds of acres of cotton, ready for picking, were destroyed.

Of the many tales of personal heroism evoked by the great hurricane, that have come to light, none exceeds that of Esther Fuller, 17 years old, who swam five miles through the waters of Nueces Bay, towing and carrying the unconscious form of her 9 year old bother Ted.

Brother and sister were swept into the tidal wave when their home was carried away during the height of the storm. The boy was hit by a piece of debris while struggling in the water and rendered unconscious.

Esther seized him just as he started down and began her battle with the wind and waters. Making use of every bit of driftwood and wreckage that came her way, she strugled on, sometimes clinging to a housetop and at others only a board.

For five miles she fought the hurricane and the waves. She and her brother were finally washed ashore on the opposite side of the bay, where they were found by rescue parties.

C., and was written by Miss Henrietta Dunlap. Other features on the program will be solo numbers by Mrs. Charlotte B. Eldridge, soprano soloist of New York, popular thrift song under the leadership of Mr. Hills, director of musical activities of the War Camp Community Service of Washington, assisted by Miss Kessheimer, pianist. It is hoped that a large number of citizens will take advantage of this opportunity to see a real play and hear the excellent musical numbers to be rendered. The entertainment will be given free of charge and as the seating capacity of the hall is limited, and owing to the high class of the program it is suggested that those wishing seats should come early.

A special invitation is extended to employees of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation and their families and friends to attend.

RED CROSS SAYS STAND BY THE MEN

Advice In Securing Claims May Be Obtained At Local Headquarters

IS CLEARING AGENCY

Discharges are going forward so rapidly that it is impossible for Field Directors at the camps to take up with the men al their claims. For this reason, they are referring the men to their own Homes Service Sections, which must be prepared in every way to assist them.

No soldier should find it necessary to employ an attorney to settle his claims against the Government Home Service Sections should give the boys the expert advice which they may need.

The American Red Cross was officially designated as the clearance medium for all community problems of service men at a recent conference of the several national welfare agencies with Director Chomeley-Jones, of the War Risk Bureau. The future policy will be one of closer co-operation between these agencies and the Red Cross for the Government Bureau, with a view to avoiding the duplicating contracts of various organizations and congestion and duplication of effort.

Experience having demonstrated that the Red Cross Home Service Sections are widespread and thoroughly trained in the regulations and methods of the Bureau, Director Chromeley-Jones thought it best the Red Cross should become the clearing agency through which all complaints and inquiries regarding the difficulties of service men should pass.

The Home Service Section of the Alexandria Chapter, is located at the Chamber of Commerce, telephone 687w, Miss Mary Lindsey, executive secretary, and those in charge will give the men advice and assistance in securing their claims against the Government.

VIRGINIA STRIKE QUASHED

Leaders at Fieldale Discharged—Others Back to Work

Danville, Va., Sept. 19.—All is quiet at Fieldale, Virginia's new textile community, where a strike took place on Tuesday. Accounts reaching here from Martinsville, the county seat, are to the effect that 60 per cent of the employes, more than two hundred all told, walked out Tuesday, the grievance being the discharge of two weaves the week before and the retention of a foreman.

The strikers made threats, saying they would compel the remainder of the force to join them, and threats were made as to cutting off the power from the mill.

Sheriff Hensley collected deputies and took them in automobiles to the scene. The presence of these officers discouraged the carrying out of any threats and the strike slowly crumbled. Many of the workers returned to work more angry with those who had led them out than against the management of the mills.

Wednesday all resumed work with the exception of the leaders of the strike movement, who were discharged.

IN THE SERE AND YELLOW LEAF

Today eighty-seven years ago one of Alexandria's oldest and most familiar figures, R. W. P. Garnett, made his entry into this world of anxiety to some, but which others view as they do life generally as a huge joke. Like the great lawgiver of Israel, the subject of this notice, although not an hundred and twenty years old, is enjoying his natural force, and his eye has not been dimmed by the tooth of Time.

It is not our custom to write biographies of people until after they pay the debt of nature, but in deference to the gentleman referred to above, we have adopted the Roman custom of erecting statues in the Capitol to men still in the land of the living, as, from present indications, our friend may be destined to continue upon earth as long as did Moses.

Our old friend and acquaintance is a son of the late Muscoe Garnett, who in ante-war days represented the Essex (Virginia) District in Congress. He took up his residence in Alexandria shortly before the civil war, where he has remained virtually ever since. In early life he was a student in the Virginia Military Institute, and at the beginning of the war between the states was a member of the Thirtieth Virginia Infantry and later of the Ninth Virginia Cavalry.

At the close of the conflict he was an attache of the Peirpoint state government, the headquarters of which were located in the old Farmer's Bank building on the north side of Prince street, between Royal and Pitt. Later he became a school master in the United States Navy, and visited the most important and interesting parts of the world.

Later in life he was deputy clerk of the United States District Court, subsequently clerk and United States Commissioner, and is at present an attache of the same court.

Apparently as full of life as he was half a century ago, he makes daily visits to the places of business of certain friends with whom he has been familiar more than half of a century, and today he is receiving congratulations as one of our oldest residents being high up on the octogenarian's ladder.

TIMELY WORDS NOW

An officer of the United States Government delivered an address over a year ago in one of the big ship yards of this country. There had been labor troubles there and in other yards. There had been strikes and threats of strikes.

Among other things the officer said:

"We are spending a colossal amount of money on shipbuilding. Every energy that this Government can bring into play is being used to expedite the building of ships. Every one is doing his duty but you.

"You call yourself Americans, but you show more respect for the orders of a walking delegate or a union chief than for the plea of the President of the United States. You call yourselves Americans, and yet you would walk out of here this minute, this hour, this day or any day at the beck of a walking delegate's finger. You would betray your country, desert the men who have gone to France to fight for you and yours.

"You are jealous of your hours of work, of your rates of pay, of your rules, of your so-called rights. What of the man in the trench who is fighting for the liberty of you and yours? Has he union hours? Does he talk strike, threaten strike, if he cannot have shorter hours or more pay. He is a man. Are you men, or are you slackers?

"What of the men who serve on our ships at sea, hunting the submarine to save you and your kind from the Hun? Do they complain of not having union hours?"

The Council Manager Plan

The Council Manager Plan is a form of city government inaugurated in the State of Virginia and adopted by Norfolk, Suffolk, Petersburg, Roanoke, Bristol and Fredericksburg, because it has been demonstrated that it better enables cities to intelligently, efficiently and economically conduct the business.

A council of five is provided which acts as a Board of Directors to conduct business, just as a Board of Directors assumes the responsibility for private business. The council will elect a city manager, whose position is relative to that of manager of a successful business. He is given authority and is held responsible for results.

THE COUNCIL TO HAVE FIVE MEMBERS. The five men to serve as a council under the proposed plan will be elected by the people at large. There is no chance of factional control, because of the number of candidates of five receiving the highest number of votes will be declared elected. There is not any ward division because this body represents the whole people.

THE CITY MANAGER. The city manager is to be the chief executive officer of the city; his merit and qualifications are to be decided by the council and he is subject to removal by them if he does not prove efficient. He is to prepare an annual budget, subject to the approval of the council. He will plan and direct all city work and improvements; will have supervision over all city employees. He is responsible to the council of five for his acts and those of his subordinates.

CITY FINANCES. The council manager plan will stabilize the handling of the city's finances, looking first—as you do in your business—to the actual and possible development of finances, and, second, to a budget plan of disbursement. Cities are not built for the present, but for the future, and in expending the revenues of a city careful attention should and must be paid to future growth. The provision of the Sinking Fund to properly care for the city's debt is provided for in State Law.

TEST OF THE COUNCIL MANAGER PLAN. The present city government is inefficient, not because of the men, but the plan. It is old, faulty and unsuited to meet present needs. While it is inconceivable that the proposed plan should make its first failure in this City, should it fail there is nothing in the State Law to forbid a return to the present form. The economists and efficiency men are paid large sums of money to furnish a better plan of organization and government for private and public business enterprises, and acting upon the results of investigation the citizens petitioning the court has offered the council manager plan to you, Mr. Voter, as an opportunity to say whether you want the old conditions to remain, or whether you want your city to measure up to its full responsibilities brought upon it by new enterprises and increased population.

Corns Come Off Like Banana Peel

"Gets-It" Leaves Toe Smooth As Your Palm. Never Fails.

Ever peel off a banana skin? Well, that's the way "Gets-It" peels off any corn or callus. It's a picnic. Nothing else in the world will do it but "Gets-It" because of the new secret principle in the "Gets-It" formula. "Gets-It" does away forever with "contraptions," "wrappy" plasters, ointments that rub off, bloodletting knives, and scissors that snip into the "quick." "Gets-It" eases pain. It takes but a second or two to use "Gets-It." There's no fussing or trouble. It dries immediately. You put your stocking right back on again. Your corn will come off painlessly in one complete piece. That's common-sense. It never fails. "Gets-It," the only sure, guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. M'f'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Materials---Our Second Largest Expense

NEXT TO THE MONEY paid employees, the cost of materials is the most important factor of expense in operating any telephone system. This holds good everywhere, and it is quite true of our company.

PUBLIC REGULATION FIXES the price we may charge for our service, but it does not keep the price of materials down. We must pay current market prices for the materials we require to maintain our plant and equipment. Since 1914 the average price of all

MATERIAL REQUIRED TO FURNISH TELEPHONE SERVICE HAS INCREASED OVER 75 PER CENT.

BUT IN SPITE OF the burdens of rising wages and increased cost of materials, we have kept on trying to maintain our equipment at Bell System standards and to furnish a satisfactory grade of service.

WE CANNOT REASONABLY be expected to continue supplying service at a loss, and we do not believe the public wants us to. It is obviously unfair to our employees, our investors and our patrons.

SO THAT WE MAY fulfill this triple obligation—to Employees, Investor and Patrons—we are now asking for sufficient revenue to pay a fair wage, to earn a reasonable return on the investment and to render good service.

SLAYER VANISHES

Henry A. Sarr, Ex-Policeman, Who Killed Boy, Disappears

Henry Arthur Starr, a former policeman, awaiting trial under bond for shooting and killing a boy, in an automobile on Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, July 9, yesterday afternoon disappeared, it is charged, with $535 entrusted to him by the Liggett store, 418 Seventh street, northwest, where he was employed as a clerk.

The police charge against him is that of jumping his bail.

Starr shot and fatally wounded Leroy McLeod, 18, when the driver of a machine in which he and several others refused to heed the policeman's orders to stop. Shortly after the shooting, Starr was dismissed from the force and placed under bond to await trial. He obtained a job in the drug store.

He was given a bag containing $535 by Martin Schwartz, manager of the store, yesterday afternoon, with instructions to place the money in the Riggs National Bank.

Starr failed to return to his employer. Inquiries at the bank showed that he had not been there. He could not be found at his home, 935 K street northwest.

CALOMEL DYING FAST IN SOUTH

"Dodson's Liver Tone" is Taking the Place of Dangerous Sickening Drug

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's Dodson's guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate so let them eat anything after wards.

Why We Are Opposed to the Council Manager Plan!

The chief argument of the proponents of the new form of city government is that the present form of government is inefficient, or, in other words, that it does not produce results commensurate with the amount of money expended. Admitting, for the sake of argument that the collecting and disposing of the city's garbage is unsatisfactory; that the ashes and waste are not removed with sufficient regularity; that the courts and alleys, what with grass and litter, are unsightly; and that there are other reasonable causes of complaint, is it a necessary, logical, consequence that we should change our present form of government to get relief? Is it not possible that we do not appropriate sufficient funds to have these things done properly, by competent labor?

The city spent last year (1918) for "street sweeping, cleaning catch basins, and removing trash, $6,659.93; hauling ashes, and cleaning alleys, $7,369.36; Alex. Water Co. for water, $81.00; a total of $14,110.89, an average of $45.23 for each working day.

Do the proponents of the new form of city government guarantee that their form will render better service for the same amount of money, or that it will do the same amount of work for less money?

It seems hardly necessary to do more than call the attention of our citizens to the improved condition of our streets, upon which the city has expended, approximately, $279,500.00 since 1901; to the extension and near completion of our sewerage system, upon which we have expended, approximately, $127,700.00; to the new school buildings, upon which have spent, during the same period, approximately, $70,000.00; the new engine house, which cost us $12,000.00; the new fire apparatus, which stands us $24,700.00; to the alterations at the court house $4,600.00; modernizing the city jail $12,000.00; the acquisition of Geo. Washington Park at $6,500.00; improvements to Armory Hall $5,000.00; our contribution to the Alexandria Hospital of $5,000.00; to the patrol wagon, and motorcycle for the police department at a cost of $1,700.00; to the new garage and the public stations. These expenditures total $548,700.00, yet notwithstanding that fact the city's liabilities exceeded its assets by only $332,300.00 on May 31, 1918, whereas, the excess was $475,400.00 on the 31 May, 1901, a decrease of $143,100.00.

If the city's real estate value were only $7,000,000.00 and, the new assessment will be in excess of this sum, we could have a debt of $1,260,000.00, and we only have one of $904,500.00. These facts alone will refute the statement incautitiously although apparently deliberately made "that Alexandria" is virtually bankrupt". But the most conclusive denial of such being a fact, is first that when a man is considered a bankrupt, or on the brink of bankruptcy bankers do not say "that his notes are as good as government bonds," as was said by one of the unsuccessful bidders from Cincinnati, Ohio, as to the sale of the $100,000.00 bonds for $102,150.56 of our city. This weird quotation of a thing being "virtually bankrupt" finds its most explicit denial in the reports of our three National Banks published quarterly, and which are the commercial pulse of the city. The cost of operating our schools in 1901 was $13,500.00, in 1918 it was $28,225.00; the cost of operating our fire department in 1901 was $6,795.52 in 1918 it was $15,727.55; for operating our police department in 1901 it was $11,450.40, and in 1918 it was $18,433.45, all of which increase was met without raising the tax rate, it being $1.71 net in both 1901 and 1918

Add to these our improved gas, and water plants; the new industries located amongst us; and the hearty co-operation of our citizens in the problem of housing our new citizens, and the mere enumeration of these facts should be sufficient to refute the statement that our present form of government is necessarily inefficient. That improvements can, and should, be made in the administration of our city government; and that further improvements in the matter of streets, sewers, and various other items are necessary will not be denied, but it is emphatically denied that a change in the present for of the city government is necessary to secure them.

The proponents of the new form of city government lay great stress upon a supposed analogy between their form, and the form of semi-public, and private corporations. Thus the voters of the city correspond to the stockholders in the other corporations; the council of five to their board of directors; the city manager to their general manager.

As a matter of fact no such analogy really exists. In all semi-public, and private corporations each of the board of directors is required to be a stockholder, and in practice the board of directors generally own, or contest a large majority of the stock. In our city government the voter is not necessarily a property owner; nor does he have to own property to hold a seat in the City Council; or to qualify him to act as mayor of the city. Thus it can be clearly discerned that the council of five might possibly not own a share of stock, or its equivalent, in our corporation: and, furthermore, they would have the power to elect a non-resident as our business manager, both of which is in direct opposition to the policy of semi-public and private corporations.

Great stress is also laid upon the new form of government as being an ideal business plan. Any business man upon being approached by an applicant for the position of business manager, or general manager, would first require a satisfactory guarantee from the applicant that he could at least earn his salary, usually that he could earn much more than his salary. There is no provision in the new form of government—requiring such a guarantee, nor do its proponents indicate in any precise way how he could earn his salary, much less earn anything for the city.

Under the present form of city government the mayor is the city's business manager. It is his duty to see that all measures proposed are beneficial to the city as a whole. It is his duty to veto any measure which would bestow a peculiar benefit upon any individual, or upon any group or class of individuals at the expense of the other citizens. It is his duty to recommend to the council such measures as he may deem beneficial to the community. It is also his duty to enforce all ordinances. Should the citizens and the council deem it wise to have an additional business manager to co-operate more particularly with the council the latter has ample legal authority to appoint such a manager, and to define his duties, his tenure of office, and his salary.

The proponents of the new form of government argue that their plan is one more efficient than the present plan, owing to its centralizing all power and responsibility; and 2—more economical because it reduces the number of officers.

Centralized power and responsibility is now and has ever been the arch foe of representative government. Our fathers in the past, and ourselves today, have waged war against centralized power, and its so called efficiency, preferring representative government with its so called inefficiency. There is no real cause why representative government should be inefficient—if a public servant is inefficient turn him out of office.

Remove all inefficient officials; abolish all unnecessary offices; consolidate all necessary offices and insure greater efficiency where practicable; eliminate all unnecessary expenses; organize the present city government into an efficient business corporation; do the things that need doing, but, let us take a second thought before we sell our birthright for a mess of pottage by substituting an arbitrary one man form of government, however efficient it may be, for our present representative form. As to the matter of economy the reduction of the council from twenty four to five saves nothing, as the members of the present city council receive no salary. By imposing upon the five the volumn of work now imposed upon twenty-four you compel the five necessarily each to give five times as much of his time and labor to the city's affairs as does a member of the present council—and that without compensation. That five men should be charged with the heavy responsibility of determining the policies of the city, and be held responsible by their fellow citizens for the success or failure of their policies, and should be expected to assume that responsibility without hope of compensation seems unreasonable, more especially, as the business manager who is charged only with the duty of carrying out their policies is to be highly paid official.

The offices enumerated as a part of the new plan of city government omit a few of the present offices, the council of five to combine these few with the offices retained under the new plan. These omitted offices are of the greatest importance; they are filled by some of our most efficient officers; and the idea that the city could dispense with the duties of these officers, or have these duties performed by others equally as well for less compensation is unreasonable.

In fact it may be stated that the original idea that the new plan of city government would result in a material saving to the city in the matter of operating cost has been practically abandoned after a closer investigation. On the other hand the more carefully the new plan of government is studied the more dear does it become that to put it in operation will entail an increase in our operating cost of from $15,000 to $20,000 per annum, thereby rendering it necessary to increase the tax rate to at least $2.20

SIGNED—A COMMITTEE OF CITIZENS OPPOSED TO THE COUNCIL MANAGER PLAN

BROOKLYN YOUTH SLAIN

Policeman Mistakes Lad for Highwayman

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Mistaken for a man who had fired five revolver shots, Peter Jerlibola, 15 years old, 341 Flushing avenue, was shot and killed on the fire escape of his family's flat by Patrolman Frank G. Lisa, 29 years old. Lisa said Jerlibola made a motion as though to draw a weapon from his hip pocket. Examinatian of the body showed the boy was not armed. Lisa's bullet struck him over the left eye and he died almost instantaneously.

The shooting occurred at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night, but was not made public by the police until 1:45 o'clock this morning.

An unidentified man came into the garage where Jerlibola was left in charge at 10 o'clock last night and said he wanted to take out a touring car. The boy refused to let it go. Without heeding, the man started the engine of one machine. Jerlibola closed the large door and stood outside it. The man became enraged, ran into the office and fired five shots toward the boy through a window.

Jerlibola was not hit and ran into his home, apparently in the belief that the man might follow him. William Daly told Patrolman Lisa he had seen some one run into the building at 341 Flushing avenue. Lisa entered the dark hallway, drew his revolver, and entered a door open on the third floor. He saw the boy, who wore long trousers and looked like a man, crouching on the fire escape, and ordered him to throw up his hands.

Instead of obeying, Jerlibola made a movement as though to draw a weapon. according to the officer, who then fired.

EDICT OF STEEL WORKERS

Leaders of Move Nail Possibility of Organization Averting Strike

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 19.—"The American Federation of Labor must bow to our edicts. We are the supreme body." This was the answer of John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the conference of leaders of the steel workers, when asked yesterday if there was any possibility of the strike being averted through intervention of the American Federation of Labor.

"The men are going to strike," he added. "I can see nothing that will stop them."

The question of postponing the strike until after the national labor conference at Washington, was not discussed at yesterday's meeting. The delegates directed their attention to preparation for the walk out in the United States Corporation mills Monday.

A strike platform, containing twelve planks, or demands, was one of the principal topics of discussion at the meeting.

Just before adjournment the conference adopted a resolution giving to the organizing committee full power to conduct the strike.

The only statement given out was the answer of Chairman John Fitzpatrick, of the committee, to the statement of Judge Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation, that their mills would remain as an "open shop."

This statement reviews Mr. Gary's contentions and asserts he is getting away from the issue altogether, that the "open shop" is not being considered, but the issue is a conference with the leading steel men of the country.

Michael F. Tighe, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, has sent a notice to the members to abide by the orders of the national committee of the American Federation. In this order he says 98 per cent of the membership favored a strike if a conference was refused by Judge Gary.

Strike out from the Constitution of Virginia section one hundred and seventeen, which is in the words and figures following, to-wit:

Section 117. General laws for the organization and government of cities and towns shall be enacted by the general assembly, and no special act shall be passed in relation thereto, except in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, and then only by a recorded vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house; and except also in the case of cities having more than fifty thousand inhabitants, as hereinafter provided. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this amendment a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the general assembly; provided, that every such charter is hereby amended so as to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

Notwithstanding, however, anything in this article contained the general assembly may, by general law or by special act (passed as prescribed in article four of this Constitution), depart in any respect (except as otherwise in this section expressly provided) from the form of organization and government prescribed by this article for cities and towns, and may provide, from time to time, for the various cities and towns of the Commonwealth such form or forms of municipal government as the general assembly may deem best; but no form or forms of government authorized by the second paragraph of this section shall become operative except as to such cities or towns as may thereafter adopt the same by a majority vote of its qualified electors at an election to be held in a manner to be prescribed therefor by law. All the limitations on the powers of the councils of cities and towns imposed by this article shall apply in like manner to the principal legislative authority under any form of government which may be authorized hereunder. The term "council" as used in sections one hundred and twenty-five and one hundred and twenty-seven of this Constitution shall be construed to include the body which, under any form of municipal government, shall be vested with the principal legislative authority of such municipality.

The general assembly, for the purpose of this article, may classify cities according to their population, but the maximum population prescribed for any class shall exceed the minimum population for the same class by at least ten thousand. The general assembly, at the request, made in manner which may be prescribed by law, of any city having a population of over fifty thousand inhabitants, may grant a special form of government for such city.

Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurer and city sergeants.

And insert in lieu thereof the following:

Sec. 117. (a) General laws for the organization and government of cities and towns shall be enacted by the general assembly, and no special act shall be passed in relation thereto, except in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution, and then only by a recorded vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house. But each of the cities and towns of the State having at the time of the adoption of this Constitution a municipal charter may retain the same, except so far as it shall be repealed or amended by the general assembly: provided, that every such charter is hereby amended to conform to all the provisions, restrictions, limitations and powers set forth in this article, or otherwise provided in this Constitution.

(b) The general assembly may, by general law or by special act, (passed in the manner provided in article four of this Constitution) provide for the organization and government of cities and towns without regard to, and unaffected by any of the provisions of this article, except those of sections one hundred and twenty-four, one hundred and twenty-five, (except so far as the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-five recognize the office of mayor and the power of veto) one hundred and twenty-six one hundred and twenty-seven and one hundred and twenty-eight of this article and except those mentioned in sub-section (a) of this section. The term "Council" as used in any of said sections shall include the body exercising legislative authority for the city or town, and all ordinances enacted and resolutions adopted by such body shall have the same force and effect for all purposes, as if enacted or adopted in accordance with the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-three of this article. But such organization and government shall apply only to such cities or towns as may thereafter adopt the same by a majority vote of those qualified voters of any such city or town voting in an election to be held for the purpose, as may be provided by law.

(c) The general assembly, at the request of any city or town made in manner provided by law, may grant to it any special form of organization and government authorized by sub-section (b) of this section, and subject to all of the provisions of that sub-section, except that it shall not be necessary for such city or town to thereafter adopt the same.

(d) Any laws or charters enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section shall be subject to the provisions of this Constitution relating expressly to judges and clerks of courts, attorneys for the Commonwealth, commissioners of revenue, city treasurers and city sergeants.

(e) Any form of organization and government authorized by any provision of this section which may have been adopted heretofore by any city or town pursuant to any act of the general assembly enacted before such provision became effective, and which is now in operation, is hereby declared legal and valid ab initio, and shall have the same force and effect as if it had been authorized by this Constitution at the time of its adoption.

Brownlow Testifying Before Committee Shows President's Telegram

The message compliments the Commissioner for his efforts to prevent the formation of a union of policemen in this city.

BODIES AMONG WRECKAGE

Many Business Blocks in Corpus Christi Are Totally Wrecked

Corpus Christi, Texas, Sept. 19.—Rapid growth in the death list resulting from the hurricane and tidal wave that swept Corpus Christi and nearby points Sunday, caused the belief among relief workers and local officials last night that the total dead would approximate 500 persons.

Much of the shore line of Corpus Christi and Nueces Bays has not been penetrated by searchers, while only a small proportion of the wreckage in this city has been removed. This, and the continued absence of many persons not heard from since the storm, was responsible for the rising estimate of fatalities.

A thorough survey of the demolished sections of the city yesterday showed block after block of the beach residential section without a vestige of the former beautiful homes that lined Corpus Christi Bay from Bay street to the causeway at the tip of North Beach.

In the downtown district utter demolition of some of the city's most important industrial and public plants marked an area extending for six blocks along the ba and more than a block i while beyond, extending ward the bluff section, every mercial establishments first was wrecked, and in some ca entire building rendered over a corresponding area wise.

The tremendous property damage is becoming daily more apparent and prominent business men and other observers declared last night $20,000,000 would be a conservative estimate of the monetary loss in Corpus Christi, in which, it was reliably stated, not more than $350,000 insurance would be paid.

SEND MONEY TO AID GIRL

FIND GIRL'S SKELETON

Disappearance of Stepmother Makes Police Suspicious

London, Sept. 19.—Mystery surrounds the finding here of parts of the skeleton of what is believed to be the body of beautiful Constance Grant, aged 16, of Granville Road, in Kilburne.

From the evidence at hand it is believed the girl's throat was cut and that her head was severed from her body after death, and the remains were buried under the kitchen floor, whence they have just been recovered. Mrs. Grant, the stepmother of the dead girl, has disappeared from her home, and all efforts on the part of Scotland Yard and local authorities to apprehend her have proved fruitless.

Both Mrs. Grant and her husband had been married twice. Of the eleven children five were of the second marriage and two were by Mr. Grant's first wife; they were Ada, aged 9, and Constance, aged 16, and four were by Mrs. Grant's first husband.

DON'T LET THE "FLU" GET YOU THIS FALL

You Can Almost Surely Avoid That Dread Disease by Taking Chasco-Vin, a Most Palatable Body-Building Tonic

The terrible harvest reaped by the "flu" a year ago will last long in our memory. No one would have it repeated at any cost hence all should take every precaution in time.

During the last epidemic thousands were safeguarded by taking Chasco-Vin, a body building tonic that does build.

It is the toning up of the system that counts in keeping the "Flu" away.

Those who are weak, nervous and run-down specially need Chasco-Vin.

In conjunction with Chasco-Vin we advise using a good antiseptic solution for the throat and nose and also that the bowels be kept regular.

THANKS TO PERSHING

Congress Tenders to General the Country's Appreciation

Wiht true knightliness, in the first formal speech since he landed on home shores, the commander in chief of the American expeditionary forces accepted his honors—not as a personal tribute but in recognition of the valor and the sacrifice of the hosts at whose head he served. In contrast to the pomp and panoply of arms such as had marked the returning hero's progress through Fifth avenue and again down Pennsylvania avenue, the welcome yesterday emphasized that this is a government of civilians.

KILLS WIFE AND CHILD

Groton, Conn., Sept. 19.—Mrs. Etta Fish, assistant to the judge of probate, was shot and killed yesterday by her husband, George, at the Town Hall.

Fish made his escape in an automobile. He went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burdick, parents of Mrs. Fish, in Noank, where he shot and killed his 4 year old daughter, Frances, and then going to his own home, hanged himself.

THEATRES

RICHMOND THEATRE

Tom Moore, the star who carries an irresistible appeal to all classes of people, greets his audiences in a true American role in "Thirty a Week," which will be seen tonight at the Richmond Theatre, his second Goldwyn Star Series production. Sunk and tenacity are characteristic traits of American manhood, and Tom Moore as Danny Murray, the romantic young chauffeur in love with his rich employer's beautiful daughter, has enough spunk and initiative to supply a dozen men in his latest and very best play.

GRAND THEATRE

A beautiful girl is made the unwitting tool of an East Indian scientist in a struggle for control of the formula for the highest explosive known, in "The Craving," which comes to the Grand Theatre tonight with Francis Ford in the role of an American scientist in love with the girl.

"The Craving" is a weird story, written in such a manner as to permit of marvelous mechanical effects and intricate mulitiple exposures. The latter includes scenes in which four girls are poured from a bottle into a wine glass, where they swim around apparently right under the man's nostrils.

Other "shots" show four distinct exposures, a result obtained only after every resource of the art of motion picture photography was dawn upon.

A trip in delirium through the battlefields of Europe forms another thrilling feature of this production in which astounding achievements by the camera are recorded.

"The Craving," is said to be the most unusual motion picture yet produced. Also Pete Morrison in "To The Tune of Bullets."

INGOMAR THEATRE

With a bevy of beautiful girls, laughter that makes you hold your sides, troubles that are ludicrous in the extreme, and novelties till you can't rest—"Trying to Get Along," the new Paramount-Mack Sennett comedy comes to the Ingomar Theatre as an extra attraction with the above
